Welcome Message

Dear Corporate Colleague,

It's with great pleasure that we invite you to be a part of RGCON 2025, the prestigious annual international conference organized by the Rajiv Gandhi Cancer Institute and Research Centre (RGCIRC), New Delhi. The event will be held from 21st – 23rd March 2025 at the Hotel Crowne Plaza, Rohini, New Delhi, India.

The theme for this year's conference is "Gynecological Cancers: Innovating, Integrating, and Updating." RGCON 2025 will offer a comprehensive programme showcasing the latest advancements and groundbreaking research in the field of gynecological oncology. Attendees will also benefit from a series of engaging networking opportunities.

We are proud to present an impressive lineup of renowned national and international speakers, who will contribute to enriching discussions, sharing knowledge, and fostering collaborations in this vital field. We believe this conference will be a dynamic and impactful experience for all healthcare professionals, researchers, and students interested in gynecological oncology.

We extend this invitation to clinicians, researchers, students, and professionals dedicated to advancing the care and treatment of gynecological cancers. Together, we can elevate the standard of care, improve patient outcomes, and make a meaningful contribution to the fight against gynecological cancers.

The conference is being organized under the auspices of Rajiv Gandhi Cancer Institute and Research Centre, New Delhi.

We recognize that pharmaceutical companies play an instrumental role in the success of any major conference. Their support is crucial to advancing research and clinical practices in the oncology field. We invite you to join us as an academic partner and help make this event a resounding success. Your participation will provide significant exposure, networking opportunities, and the chance to engage with eminent faculty and delegates.

We are excited about the potential for collaboration and would be delighted to have your esteemed organization as a key partner for RGCON 2025. Please feel free to contact us for more details on sponsorship and partnership opportunities.

Looking forward to your support and participation in this transformative event.
